

Abstract

A method of industrially advantageously producing a cyclopropane monoacetal derivative represented by the formula (III) conveniently and also in a fewer steps by reacting a 5 halogenated unsaturated carbonyl compound represented by the formula (II) with an alcoholate.

wherein each symbol is as defined in the specification.